What if nature held the secret of youth ?

L'OCCITANE

EN PROVENCE

On Corsican lands, L'OCCITANE discovered treasures with extraordinary powers of longevity, and brought them together in an exceptional skincare range:

Immortelle Divine

To help fight all the signs of ageing and visibly protect the skin's youthfulness.

Immortelle, the eternal flower that never fades, is combined with Myrtle, the centuries-old shrub that regenerates after fire. Guided by the exceptional talents of these two plants, L'OCCITANE focused its research on bringing them together to provide complete anti-ageing skincare. A third patent* proves the action of this divine combination on the activity of Sirtuin 1 – the «longevity protein».
